

ROHS STATEMENT

Microfarads is an independent distributor of electronic components and does not manufacture any of the components that it sells. Accordingly, Microfarads is unable to represent or certify to our customers that materials are used in the manufacturing process of the components we provide for resale.

Microfarads is aware of the ROHS compliance deadline of July 1, 2006 and is gathering information about manufacturers and manufacturer's web sites that may be useful to customers in determining components compliance. Information may include product status, dates of product compliance and data that may be available from the manufacturer to document compliance

As the process moves forward, websites and manufacturer's information provided to customers by Microfarads are intended as possible research vehicles so customers may complete their due diligence and do not represent in any way a certification by Microfarads as to the chemical content of any component. Since our customers require both ROHS compliant and pre-ROHS parts, we certify that we will fill orders strictly based upon the part number ordered from us.

Chemicals used in the components or the manufacturing of the components are selected and used at the sole discretion of the manufacturer and in many cases will be considered intellectual property. Certification of any chemical content is the sole responsibility of the manufacturer. Microfarads does not add any of the ROHS related materials during its handling process.

If you have additional questions concerning Microfarads' position on ROHS compliance, please contact our Quality Department.

Sincerely,

John Viering
